

About Sadbhavna Society

The Sadbhavna Society, established in Ludhiana, India, is a registered non-governmental organization dedicated to comprehensive socio-cultural and developmental work. Officially registered on June 26, 1998, under registration number 389 of 1998-99, the society is characterized by its dual-pronged mission focusing on both general community welfare and targeted linguistic-cultural preservation.

The foundational objective of the Sadbhavna Society is centered on rural development, specifically addressing critical gaps in health and education within underserved communities. This primary focus aligns the society with broader national development goals by contributing to improved social indicators in rural areas. By prioritizing these two sectors, the organization aims to facilitate sustainable human development and enhance the quality of life for the rural and disadvantaged populations it serves.
